

Norwich Bulletin and Courier

125 YEARS OLD

Subscription price 12c a week; 50c a month; $4.50 a year.

Entered as the Second-Class Matter, Second-Class Mail, at Norwich, Conn., on October 1, 1896.

Postoffice at Norwich, Conn., No. 125.

Published by the Norwich Bulletin and Courier Co., 125 South Main St., Norwich, Conn.

Telephone 125.

Second-Class Matter, Second-Class Mail, at Norwich, Conn., on October 1, 1896.

Postoffice at Norwich, Conn., No. 125.

Published by the Norwich Bulletin and Courier Co., 125 South Main St., Norwich, Conn.

Telephone 125.

Norwich, Thursday, Feb. 17, 1921.

CIRCULATION

WEEK ENDING FEB. 12th, 1921

10,998

AN UNDERSTANDING REACHED.

To judge from the attendance at the special council meeting when the question of giving the gas and electric companies authority to oppose the bill before the legislature placing municipal ownership under the supervision of the public utilities commission was given a hearing on which a large part of the citizens are more or less interested because of conditions which prevail in the city.

As the result of the discussion there appeared to be established the fact that not only does the city, through the mayor and council, possess as much authority as the public utilities commission concerning the gas and electric commission but that the commission recognizes the authority and is disposed to concede it.

This marks a radical departure from the policy that was followed in the past when the commission has been considered a law unto itself, due to its appearance to the fact that the mayor and council have not recognized or seen fit to exercise their authority in connection therewith.

The hearing demonstrated that it was the sentiment of the people of this city that they ought to know something about the operating of their plant, that it is impossible to get desired information otherwise it would be advisable to sanction the placing of the plant under the supervision of the state commission, but that they were prepared to accept the recognition on the part of the city government and the gas and electric commission that the mayor and council are able to get just as much information as would be available from the state commission, and they will accordingly expect such a policy will be followed in the future.

That the department hasn't the good will of the public, as intimated at the hearing, is due solely to the conditions which the public has been made to tolerate and the difficulties in getting any information as to why they exist. Information that there has been of going to be a new leaf turned over will be gratifying to the community. There will be a chance now to demonstrate whether this matter of supervision by the state commission has been definitely killed as far as Norwich's attitude is concerned or whether it will get more support at another time. The city will expect results in the way indicated at the hearing.

GOOD SIGNS.

From time to time evidence has been shown that the Oregon government in Mexico is so directing its efforts as to bring about a solution of some of the difficulties which have been wished upon it by previous administrations and thereby clear the road for not only better relations but a better state of affairs within its own borders.

Commendable progress has been made in the direction of pacification. It is true that Mexico isn't entirely free from troublesome elements and that more or less action is required on the part of the federal forces to deal with the lawless, but the conditions have been so greatly improved since Oregon took control that it isn't much like the Mexico under Carranza, and Mexico could lay claim to tolerating much less strife than some other sections of the world which would doubtless insist upon being classed as possessing a higher development of civilization.

By means of legislation Oregon has indicated that he intends to overcome some of the serious handicaps which are at the present time experienced by the government. Not so long ago he indicated a determination to reach a solution of the dispute concerning the oil lands and his latest announcement is to the effect that he proposes to pay all land owners who were deprived of their property as the result of the Carranza decrees. These are all important in leading up to the establishment of a stable government and convincing others that such is the aim even if not actually accomplished.

Mexico is doing much to reestablish itself in the confidence of the rest of the world. This is necessary for its own good, since Mexico needs financial assistance and there is nothing that would advance the time when it could get it more than the recognition on the part of the other nations that it has an efficient government in operation and that it is cognizant of its obligations and intends to bring about a proper adjustment of its differences. There is reason to believe that Mexico as it looks ahead is looking up.

GOVERNOR OF THE PHILIPPINES.

Only a little time remains before those who are guessing about the members of Mr. Harding's cabinet will be deprived of that fun, but even though the cabinet selections should be known within two weeks the possibility of those not previously mentioned getting a place in the cabinet is being pointed out while each day shows the mind readers shifting their lists about.

That General Wood will not be a member of the cabinet has not been for some time accepted. Whether there is any ground for the mention of his name for the post of governor of the Philippines will be revealed in time. Nevertheless if such an appointment is made and accepted it will be recognized that an able man has been chosen for that important post. Likewise it is one of the best paying jobs within the gift of the president.

Whether General Wood would be desirous of going to the island to shoulder the job is uncertain. That he is well qualified for the place and would give the islands an excellent administration there is every reason to believe. He has had experience along somewhat the same lines during his administration in Cuba and he would be found to be a man who would direct the affairs in the Philippines with the same careful regard for the interests of the islanders as he did in the previous case, even though the respective conditions under which he took control in Cuba and under which he would assume office in Manila are by no means the same.

The governorship of the Philippines is one that calls for a man of more than ordinary qualifications and there is no doubt but what General Wood would be regarded by the country as the man who would fill the bill. Certainly he would be one in whom the administration could have the utmost confidence. General Wood could have come to the islands under the present administration, but would have been at the head of the military district rather than governor general.

PROGRESS ON TARIFF BILL.

In a manner which showed that party lines were not adhered to and that the last efforts of the president to whip the democrats into a solid opposition were unsuccessful, the senate has reached a vote upon and passed the Fordney tariff bill, a piece of legislation which has occupied much of the time during the present session and over which there has been much difficulty in getting a definite expression.

Efforts to block the progress of the bill have resulted in the delaying of other important legislation. The purpose has apparently been to kill it by delaying it, regardless of the effects that course has had in obstructing the other business and especially the appropriation bills.

That the attitude of the president, as disclosed by Senator Underwood, to the effect that he would apply his veto to the measure should it reach him, had its effect in breaking down the opposition to the bringing of the bill to a vote is possible. It was likewise open to the interpretation that it was also to be accepted by the faithful as a guide in declaring themselves. With democrats favoring the measure and republicans opposing it there are reasons to believe that the promised veto had little effect upon the way the democrats voted except possibly to spur on those southern senators who were urging its adoption for the help that it will be to the southern cotton growers. Whatever may have been sought in the way of resistance to the bill from the promise of a veto it failed to prevent its passage, but it is possible to see where the assurance that there would be a veto served to remove the obstructions which had been repeatedly placed in the way of a vote.

The majority by which the bill passed the senate does not insure sufficient support to override a veto and it is doubtful whether there will be any attempt made to pass it over the veto in case it actually gets that far, but now that it has been acted upon by the senate it will be possible to devote the next two weeks to the speeding up of other legislation which has long been delayed.

FIGHTING A MENACE.

Stricter supervision of the incoming immigrants at New York by the putting of the quarantine station at Staten Island under government control is one of the precautions which the cases of typhus fever discovered among those coming to this country and the deaths which have resulted from the dread disease demand.

Last conditions regarding the entrance of aliens into the country have not recently been brought to light. They have been known for a long time and prolonged efforts have been made to bring about an improvement in the situation without the accomplishment of such results as can be considered satisfactory. When health conditions are involved, and the possibility of this plague getting a foothold in the country recognized, more than the usual amount of attention needs to be devoted to the situation. It is a time when federal, state and local health authorities should be co-operating for the purpose of safeguarding the country against the ravages of such a disease.

Much of this work should be done at the port from which the aliens embark. There a valuable service is rendered particularly when steamship lines insist upon clean bills of health before departing, but when there are ports at which there is a laxity in this respect and less attention paid to inspection and health conditions there must be a doubly careful inspection of such immigrants coming from those ports.

New York has not had the cooperation of the federal and local health boards that ought to be expected. How many cases of typhus there are in New York today because of it is impossible to say, but it is gratifying to learn that have government authorities recognize the need of giving close attention to the danger through stricter supervision of the immigrants and it is to be hoped that not only by the authority possessed but by legislation that is needed this and future menaces of the kind will be better dealt with from now on. Our best efforts should be devoted to keeping the disease out rather than trying to get it out after it has been permitted to come in.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Massachusetts has decided that heels on shoes should be a matter of self-determination.

The only trouble with the drop in gasoline prices is that they do not tumble far or often enough.

Now that the baseball schedules are out it is only a brief warming up period to the opening of the season.

The man on the corner says: The climax in the galoshes habit comes when sleighbells were tied to the buckles.

Somewhat we do not seem to be getting Germany a very good example in doing so much kicking over our income tax.

There is occasionally a bit of evidence that those out of work are willing to make some effort or sacrifice to get some.

If Germany is about to accede to the allied demands for disarmament it has reached a decision that will react to its benefit.

It is claimed that $38,000,000 was spent by women on face powder last year. After a little reflection it is easy to believe.

It doesn't take long to land an old fashioned snow storm in our midst but the weatherman will have to work faster than congress to get it here before spring.

Somewhat Providence hopes that the Southern New England railroad will be completed, but there is about as much chance of that resulting as there is of the Norwich-Colchester-Hartford trolley line being built.

THOSE CLUB SCALES

When the learned professor from the eastern university who graced the Tuesday Morning club's program lapped into a long table of statistics that showed the terrifying amount of malnutrition among the Norwalkians, his audience began to look bored. Seated near the windows, however, as they did a glimpse of the street and chance pedestrians, took on an added value as a relief from the steady flow of figures.

Little Mrs. Martin, plump as a pouter pigeon and destined to reduce, remembered suddenly the scales in the cloak room and slipped quietly from her seat in the rear row. She beamed upon Cynthia, the attendant.

"Lovely spring day," she began. "Doesn't the sun flood the room? What a welcome change it must be to you to have these light rays in those of the heavy winter furs and cloaks."

Cynthia, with a wisdom born of long experience, nodded.

"Were you thinking of trying the scales this morning, Mrs. Martin?" she suggested, as if that were the last idea likely to enter the club woman's head.

"Scales?" repeated Mrs. Martin. "Yes, yes, I believe, I might. You see I've been dieting a little and I'm anxious to know what effect it has had."

"Slimmer, I'm sure," said the diplomatic Mrs. Pettibone, who really was.

Mrs. Martin radiated delight. Cynthia led the way to the shining, enameled platform and glistening weight bar. She knelt down and with a deft, almost imperceptible motion, adjusted a little nut in the rear of the mechanism.

Cynthia slid the weight over, and made a mental note of the figure which Mrs. Martin had recorded on her test, the visit having been a gain, she slid the weight back. Even with the adjustment, there had been a gain, she slid the weight back.

"A hundred and thirty-five and a half," she reported, moving the weight back to the zero. "My dear Mrs. Martin, you've lost two pounds."

Mrs. Martin attempted to conceal her satisfaction, but failed. Cynthia, who had been waiting for a chance to say, "And if you'll give me my wraps, please, I really must be leaving early. Rob's perfectly ravensome when he comes home from school and I like to give him a good warm dinner."

Hardly had the door closed behind her

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sunday Observances.

Mr. Editor: I make no war whatsoever on the man who believes that Sunday should be observed as a Sabbath, but I certainly do object to his trying to compel anyone else to observe the day.

When the Lord's Day Alliance or any other association announce that they desire to get legislation that will effect the rights of the individual conscience, and when they give out that they desire a return to the Puritan Sunday, we have a perfect right to investigate the workings of that kind of law.

They were endorsed, and we also have a right to expect that once started on such a line of legislation, men will not stop till they have all they have ever asked for or wished that they might have.

The Puritans did not know or practice even the simplest and plainest principles of religious liberty. All they wanted or understood was to have liberty to do as they themselves thought right, and they laid heavy hands on those who dared to dissent from their standards.

Modern apostles of a return to the so-called blue laws have no clearer vision than did their prototypes, and when they get the laws called for, will lay just as heavy hands on any objecting minority that may be found.

It is just as true today as it was in the days of Paul, that if righteousness be by the law, then Christ is dead in vain, and without entering at this time into the question of which day of the week is the Christian Sabbath, it can be said with the most positive assurance that if it is "Christian" it should be served as Christ would have observed it, and the attitude of Christ's followers toward those who do observe it should be decided equally in harmony with the way Christ talked and acted toward those who did not follow Him or believe in Him when He was here on earth as our example.

Christ said, "If any man hear My words and believe not, I judge him not; for I came not to judge the world, but to save the world. He that rejecteth Me and receiveth not My words, hath one that judgeth him; the word that I have spoken the same shall judge him in the last day."

But to many of the professed followers of the Lord's Jesus waiting till the last day for some of their fellowmen to be judged, is waiting altogether too long, and these religious enthusiasts like the Pharisees of old, want the ones whom they consider as offenders to be judged now, and the pains and penalties that God has reserved to Himself to give at the end of the journey, to be inflicted forthwith. All that is not Christian.

Just as truly, His not American, either.

Very truly yours,

GILBERT P. COATES.

ODD INCIDENTS IN AMERICAN HISTORY

WHEN "OLD TIPPECANOE" WAS INAUGURATED.

I like his political campaign, the inauguration of William Henry Harrison (Old Tippecanoe) was the most strikingly original of any president that has been installed into that office. The date was March 4, 1841. Washington was being with people, and the roar of the morning salutes was echoed by the bands of the military as they marched to take their designated places.

At 10 o'clock in the morning a procession was formed which escorted the president-elect from his temporary residence, by way of Pennsylvania avenue, to the capital.

There were no regular troops on parade but the uniformed militia of the District of Columbia, reinforced by others from Philadelphia and Baltimore, which performed escort duty in a very creditable manner. A carriage, drawn by four horses, had been provided for the president, but he preferred to ride on horseback, as the Roman emperors were wont to pass along the Appian Way.

The old hero made a fine appearance, mounted, as he was, on a spirited white charger. At his right, slightly in the

FOR HACKING COUGHS

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

BUILDS NEW STRENGTH

SOOTHES AND HEALS

ALL PURE FOOD

No alcohol or dangerous drugs.

Dr. Leonhardt Says

"The cause of Piles is internal; that's why knives do not give lasting relief—why cutting fails." Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet that "works while you sleep," removes the cause. Money back if it fails. Let Dr. Leonhardt Co.

court, wearing their black silk robes, had taken their seats in front, before the speaker's chair.

At half-past 12 o'clock the signal was given and the procession moved to the east front of the capitol, where an immense crowd had assembled, estimated to number upwards of fifty thousand people.

General Harrison, as "the observed of all observers," was greeted with prolonged cheers when he arose to deliver his address. When the speaker had subsided he advanced to the front of the platform, and there was a profound stillness as he read, in a loud and clear voice, his inaugural address. He stood bareheaded, without hat or gloves, facing the cold northeast wind, while those seated around him, although warmly wrapped, suffered from the piercing blasts. All were astonished at the power and compass of his voice.

Harrison spoke for one and a half hours. So distinctly were his words heard that he was chivalrous at the very beginning, particularly in his pledges he had made, that under re circumstances would be run for another term.

Just before the close of the inaugural he turned to Chief Justice Taney, who held the Bible, and in a clear and distinct voice repeated the oath required. It was a singular fact that when the president took the oath this multitude of spectators before him spontaneously uncovered their heads, while the pealing cannon announced to the country that it had a new chief magistrate.

When the newly inaugurated president returned to the White House he took his station in the reception room, and the multitude entered the front portal, passed through the vestibule into the reception room, where they had an opportunity to shake hands with the president, and then passed down through the rear steps and out through the garden.

Several members of the cabinet, Harrison survived his inauguration just one month, having contracted a cold from which he died on April 4.

(Tomorrow—Our First Naval Victory.)

INCOME TAX FACTS

YOU SHOULD KNOW

Many inquiries from newly weds as to the amount of taxable income for the year 1920 are received by the bureau of internal revenue. In many cases both parties were employed up to the wedding date and the point on which advice is sought is whether the joint income must be shown. The ruling of the bureau of internal revenue is that if they were married on or before December 31, 1920, a return must be made of their combined income if it equaled or exceeded $2,400.

Separate returns of income of each or a return of their combined income may be filed. If the net income of husband or wife exceeded $5,000, separate returns should be filed for the purpose of correctly computing the surtax which applies only to income in excess of that amount.

The newly weds are entitled to a $2,000 exemption plus the additional $200 for each dependent under 18 years of age or who is incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective. This exemption may be divided in any proportion between the separate returns of husband and wife if filed that way.

And remember that March 15, 1921.

PROVED EFFECTIVE BY A FIFTY YEARS TRIAL

The most widely used remedy in the world to overcome the rheumatic effects of excess. Caters to stout and feeble, to the nervous, to the young, to the old, to the sick, to the healthy, to the laboring, to the idle, to the wealthy, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to the honest, to the dishonest, to the pure, to the impure, to the clean, to the unclean, to the fair, to the foul, to the beautiful, to the ugly, to the strong, to the weak, to the healthy, to the sick, to the young, to the old, to the rich, to the poor, to the noble, to the lowly, to the brave, to the cowardly, to the wise, to the foolish, to the good, to the bad, to